

Vadim Dmitrichev

Backend developer

My name is Vadim. Now I am improving my skills in working with Django framework, SQL databases, Web scraping. Previously, I had commercial experience with PHP language and Yii2 framework. I am currently looking for a job as a Python backend developer. My personal portfolio is implemented on Django with the ability to add new pet projects and material that I have studied, as well as a personal blog page. I'm ready to learn new development tools and improve those I already have.
